Foreword

It is a great privilege for us to present the proceedings of LTAL-2022 to the authors and the delegates of the event. We hope that you will find it useful, valuable, aspiring and inspiring. Proceedings is a published record of papers presented by the participants, which indicates the progress and state of development in research at the time of writing the research article. It is an invaluable asset to all researchers. Proceedings provide a permanent record of this asset.

LTAL-2022 aimed to provide a platform to discuss ideas, issues, challenges, findings, opportunities and applications of language teaching and learning in the age of technology and social networks. Learning a language is more than just memorizing set of phonemes, morphemes, and syntactic rules applied to a human being. It is a complex organism with numerous interconnected components and activities that is flexible, social, emotional, and cognitive. However, it is evident that communication is its primary purpose and that communication skills are necessary for its success. Using this idea as a jumping off point, each of the authors has offered their ideas and findings on how to assist students with improved communication skills in ELT-related professions.

The response to the call-for-papers had been overwhelming – both from Vietnam and overseas. More than 120 participants actively participated in the conference across nation and abroad viz. Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, England, The Philippines, America, Indonesia, Korea, Russia, and India.

We are indebted to and extend our gratitude to the chairman, academic advisors and technical advisors whose support made the conference successful. We extend our gratitude to eminent guest speakers whose valuable ideas brought the conference to a higher level and made this conference meaningful and a great success.

We would also like to express our gratitude and appreciation to all the reviewers who helped us in maintaining the high-quality manuscripts for the proceedings, being published by AIJR publisher. Unfortunately, many manuscripts from prestigious institutions could not be accepted due to the reviewing outcomes.

We are optimistic about getting the proceedings of LTAL-2022 with high visibility and with cross reference. We also appreciate the efforts of the authors of LTAL-2022. We try our best to maximize the popularity of their papers and wish them for their future endeavors.

We would also like to extend our thanks to the members of the organizing team for their hard work. We hope that all the participants of LTAL-2022 had a wonderful and a fruitful time at the conference and that our oversea guests had comfortable stay and enjoyed the beautiful weather of Ho Chi Minh city, Vietnam.

Message from Vice-Chancellor

Ladies and Gentlemen!

Dear scientists, lecturers, and teachers!

On behalf of the Conference Organizing Committee, I would like to extend a warm welcome to the international and domestic delegates participating in the LTAL-2022 conference organized by Ho Chi Minh City University of Food Industry. Because the current COVID-19 epidemic has been gradually controlled, and life is gradually returning to normal, this year's conference was organized in combination with online platforms so that researchers and lecturers across the country and internationally could share knowledge, research methods and foreign language teaching in the current context.

Ho Chi Minh City University of Food Industry is an educational unit under the auspices of the Ministry of Industry and Trade, providing multidiscipline and multilevel programs specializing in technical training groups, having strengths in the field of science and food technology. Currently, our university is training 3 doctoral disciplines, 10 master's majors and 34 undergraduate majors, including majors in English and Chinese language, that contributed to the country's development and international integration. In addition, we are proud to be one of the tertiary unit that trains high-quality bachelors who are able to fluently use foreign languages as a communication tool to support professional work.

Following the success of the National Conference in 2018: ELT Upgrades – a focus on methodology, and the International Conference in 2022, this year, we will solemnly organize an international conference with the theme: "New trends and innovations in language teaching and language policy." The conference will provide a forum for lecturers and researchers to share scientific information, as well as to update and report on research results and foreign language teaching in the modern era. The conference is expected to provide lecturers, researchers, and the scientific community with new perspectives and approaches in the field of language and foreign language teaching.

More than 100 scientists, researchers, and managers in the field of language and language teaching from local and international institutes, research centers, and universities attended the conference. We believe and expect that through the course of this Conference, scientific findings and arguments will be discussed and examined in order to shed light on more problems in the field of language and language teaching that need to be addressed and developed in the near future.

On this occasion, on behalf of Ho Chi Minh City University of Food Industry, I would like to express my deep gratitude to scientists, researchers, managers, lecturers, and postgraduate students who have given much love, interest, contribution, and participation in sponsoring, organizing, and presenting at the Conference. I'd also like to thank the news agencies and reporters who came to cover the event.

I would like to announce the opening of the Scientific Conference "New Trends and Innovations in Language Teaching and Language Policy in 2022".

Wishing all delegates, scientists, and guests good health and happiness!

We wish our Conference a great success!

Thank you very much!
